DANCING the RAINBOW

We are beings of light, white light, combining many different frequencies of light from all parts of the visible spectrum, harmonizing the vibrations of many different colours. Colours affect us, how we feel, how we think and act.

A beam of white light passed through a prism, or sunlight passing through a crystal, splits the light into the colors of the rainbow; the converse is also true - when the many different frequencies of visible light - red, orange, yellow, green, blue, and violet are combined - white light is created. This weekend we have the opportunity to explore our relationship to colour. Dancing dances dedicated to each of the separate colours of the rainbow can increase the vibration of our own light.
